Let the Community Lead: Rethinking Command and Control Systems

Aaron Titus

President,
Mountain West VOAD

Aaron Titus is the author of How to Prepare for Everything, an empowering method to prepare individuals and families for, well, everything. He is the Executive Director and data architect for Crisis Cleanup, documenting nearly one billion dollars of volunteer service by 1,600 organizations after 130 disasters, in 40 states. The system saves disaster survivors $49,500 every day that would have otherwise been wasted in inefficient volunteerism.

Aaron is the president of Mountain West VOAD, a 12-state VOAD from Alaska to the Pacific Northwest, Mountain West, and Dakotas. He received his J.D. from the George Washington School of Law, and his undergraduate degree in Architecture from the University of Utah. Aaron and his wife Jennifer are the proud parents of nine children.
