

Preliminary Damage Assessment Report

Alaska – Severe Storm, Flooding, and Landslides FEMA-4672-DR

Declared September 23, 2022

On September 20, 2022, Governor Michael J. Dunleavy requested a major disaster declaration due to a severe storm, flooding, and landslides during the period of September 15-20, 2022. The Governor requested a declaration for Individual Assistance, including the Individuals and Households Program, Disaster Unemployment Assistance, Disaster Case Management, and Disaster Legal Services and Public Assistance for four Regional Educational Attendance Areas (REAs) and Hazard Mitigation statewide. Beginning on September 21, 2022, and continuing, joint federal, state, and local government Preliminary Damage Assessments (PDAs) were conducted in the requested areas and are summarized below. PDAs estimate damages immediately after an event and are considered, along with several other factors, in determining whether a disaster is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the state, and the affected local governments, and that Federal assistance is necessary.<sup>1</sup>

On September 23, 2022, President Biden declared that a major disaster exists in the State of Alaska. This declaration made Individual Assistance requested by the Governor available to affected individuals and households in the Bering Strait REA, Kashunamiut REA, Lower Kuskokwim REA, and Lower Yukon REA. This declaration also made assistance for emergency protective measures (Category B), including direct Federal assistance, under the Public Assistance program available for the Bering Strait REA, Kashunamiut REA, Lower Kuskokwim REA, and Lower Yukon REA. Finally, the declaration made Hazard Mitigation Grant Program assistance requested by the Governor available for hazard mitigation measures statewide.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The Preliminary Damage Assessment (PDA) process is a mechanism used to determine the impact and magnitude of damage and resulting needs of individuals, businesses, public sector, and community as a whole. Information collected is used by the State as a basis for the Governor’s request for a major disaster or emergency declaration, and by the President in determining a response to the Governor’s request (44 CFR § 206.33).

<sup>2</sup> When a Governor’s request for major disaster assistance under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, as amended (Stafford Act) is under review, a number of primary factors are considered to determine whether assistance is warranted. These factors are outlined in FEMA’s regulations (44 CFR § 206.48). The President has ultimate discretion and decision making authority to declare major disasters and emergencies under the Stafford Act (42 U.S.C. § 5170 and § 5191).

- Destroyed – total loss of structure, structure is not economically feasible to repair, or complete failure to major structural components (e.g., collapse of basement walls/foundation, walls or roof);
- Major Damage – substantial failure to structural elements of residence (e.g., walls, floors, foundation), or damage that will take more than 30 days to repair;
- Minor Damage – home is damaged and uninhabitable, but may be made habitable in short period of time with repairs; and
- Affected – some damage to the structure and contents, but still habitable.

<sup>4</sup> By law, Federal disaster assistance cannot duplicate insurance coverage. 42 U.S.C. § 5155 and 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(5).

<sup>5</sup> Special populations, such as low-income, the elderly, or the unemployed may indicate a greater need for assistance. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).
